ALLISON RANCH MINING PROPERTIES SOLD LARGE FINANCIAL INTERESTS

The extensive Allison Ranch mine holdings are involved in one o fthe largest property transfers in recent years in the county and betoken important developments in the district. C. J. Nystedt, O. S. Norton and F. C. Brandt as trustees for the Grass Valley South Star Mining Company have transferred the properties to the Americ Empire Corporation, an English company represented by Alfred Johnson as president and C.E. Duensing as secretary. The Americ Empire Corporation has assigned the agreement to the Ford Allison Mines Corporation. The papers were filed for record at the court house the past week.

The transfer includes the agreement between the Grass Valley Consolidated Gold Mines and George St. John covering the Allison Ranch, Stanton, Croesus, Croesus Extension, Keystone, Hill, Minnesota and Mary Ann mining claims; the agreement between Edward Fitzsimmons and George St. John covering Allison Ranch Ford Gold Mine; the agreement between Louis heeler et al and Grass Valley South Star Mining Company covering New Idea mining claim; and the agremeent between W. M. Craig et al and Edwad P. Fitzsimmons covering Allison Ranch Franklin quartz mine.

The agreement covers all the properties and surface works, pumps at San Francisco, cable at Murchie mine and press at the New England. The purchasers agree to form a corporation under Nevada laws with a capital stock of one million or more hres with a par value of $1.00 per share, and to issue to first parties, 17½ per cent of such shares of stock, to be non-assessable. A cash consideration of $43,000 is also called for.

Th eAllison Ranch mine is said to have ben discovered in 1850 during placer mining operations of Wolf creek. The ranch was located in December 1854, and from that time until 1866 was one of the most famous producers of the district, yielding $2,300,000 from 46,000 tons of ore and paying therefrom $1,200,000 in dividends. The vein at this time was worked to a depth of 475 feet and four levels had been driven about 700 feet. From April 1869 to December 1871 the shaft was depened to 600 feet, a drift was run 500 feet south from the shaft and reputed production during that period is said to have run $250,000. The mine was idle from 1871 until 1896 when is was purchased by Mckay and Flood of San Francisco who installed an extensive surface plant and deepened the shaft to 1650 feet. Instead of following the vein, the shaft was continued at a uniform angle in the graidiorite. Crosscuts were driven east at the 800, 1000, 1200, 1400, and 1600 levels to intersect the vein Drifts were run on the vein, 400 feet north and 1000 feet south. Over two miles of drifts were run on the Allison Ranch, Caribou and branch veins from 1896 to 1903. The roe milled during this period is said to have averaged $10 per ton and the concentrates $80 per ton. The shaft being sunk near Wolf creek made for a large amoutn of water to be pumped.

John W. Mckay, who was a leading spirit in the operations, passed away in London in 1902 and a complete examination of the property was made by Ross E. Browne, after which the property was closed down. Engineering reports on the Nevada county mines have in cases been proven rather to the contrary. This particularly true in the case of the Empire and North Star mines which have been among the most famous of California's noted producers.

The Allison Ranch veins belongs to the Omaha-Wisconsin-Hartery north-south system of parallel veins in the granidiorite area. The strike varies from N. 0° to N. 15°E. and dips 45°W. There is not much outcrop but there is an average width of 18 feet down to the 600 foot level. The vein below the 600 level is said to be around 2 feet in width and somewhat broken up. The Allison Ranch vein split to the south and one branch known as the Caribou Ledge yielded rich returns. Granidiorite occurs in both walls.

Brown's report showed the presence of ore running from $1 to $24 per ton and that the average value of the asays showed that the property could be successfully operated under careful management. He estimated that the vein had been displaced by a number of step-faults but that cross-cutting from a hanging wall shaft would pick up the veni again.

The surface plant includes a 102 foot headframe, a hoist capable of handling 2 tons from a depth of 2500 feet, a cubic foot air compressor and pumping equipment.

LEAD AND ZINC ORE IS PROMISING HERE

The properties of the Nevada County Lead and Zinc Company lying on South olf creek offer a great deal of promise as the surface development so far shows a great deal of ledge matter running well in value in lead, zinc, copper and silver. Some fine specimens of the ore have been placed on exhibit in The Nugget windows this past week and have created a great deal of interest.

Several ledges have been opened up by shallow shafts on the croppings. There are four well defined ledges on the property running north east and south west, and the croppings run up to a hundred feet in width. The croppings are a mixture of barite, quartz and calcite. Lead and zinc appear in the ore in the form of sulphides.

The first large t developmen planned for the property is to sink a three compartment shaft 200 feet on the dip of the ledge which pitches about 75°. The company has been engaged on a financing program, it being incorporated under California laws and having a permit to dispose of 62,000 shares of stock to net the company $50,000 with which to commence development of its properties.

The holdings consist of 700 acres and extend a mile and a half on the east vein system. Mr. L. W. Williams who has been promoting the project took up his first options on the property some ten years ago and surveys and mineral studies have been made by T. H. McGuire.

L. W. William is president, Richard Williams, vice president, Eben Smart, Alvon C. Jones, Theodore A. Kohler and Clarence Briggs directors.

CONSTRUCTION OF HIGHWAY MOVING

Construction of the new state highway east from Nevada City is making excellent progress. Th etwo gas shovels are employed at the White Cloud fill about ten miles east of town which is oneof largest fills on the present contract which runs nearly twelve miles to the east up Harmony Ridge. The state highway commission has surveyed a route into Bear Valley from Junction House to provide an easy six per cent grade and it is to be hoped that the coming year will see construction commenced on that portion.

A portion of the route along the top of the ridge which does not entail heavy removal of earth is being handled with mule teams. An extension of time has been granted Contractor C. R. Adams to allow complete settleing of the earth fills before placing the twenty foot pavement.

Miss Olive Pascoe is visiting her sister, Mrs. Herbert Mountain, in Albany, California. Her niece, Miss Mountan, who has been visiting in Nevada City returned home with her.

Allan B. Ingram and sister, Miss Muriel, of San Francisco are in Nevada City visiting.

TURPENTINE REFINERY COMMENCING TEST RUN WEDNESDAY WILL BE ON REGULAR SCHEDULE IN TEN DAYS

Twenty Five Tons of Gum Already at Plant For Refining Tuning Up of Various Units Will Be Expedited Says Ernst Whao Is Enhtusiastic Over Production Prospects

Tuning up of the new turpentine refinery of the California Timber Products Company is expected to commecne Wednesday of this wek and a trial run will be made to see how the plant lines up. The work of hooking up the plumbing is being rushed to completion by Elmer Durbin so that the boiler may be fired up. The interior of the refinery is a mass of pipes, tanks and containers until the ordinary mind is in a jumble what it is all about, but every part plays an important function in th emanufacturing operations. The plant should go onto a regular production basis between August 10th to 15th.

Twenty five tons of raw gum are ready to be put through and the tapping operations have coaxed the trees to the point where there is an excellent flow of guf into the waiting cups. The pitch is running very free at the present time owing to the warm weather. No new tapping is being done during the hot weather as that would be injurious to the trees. Every precaution is taken by the company to insure healthy trees continuing under the tapping method used. This fall the company expects to commence oprations in the Blue Tent and North San Juan sections and the field of operations will be gradually extended until in a few years they will cover a wide extent of territory as from twenty tive to thirty miles from Nevada City can be handled readily.

One hopeful sign for the future growth of the business is seen in tne increasing number of farmers who are coming in to see how the wheels go around, and who wish to have their trees included for tapping. As th eplant gets fully under way and the timber owners can see a steady revenue coming in from the sale of gum which hitherto has been a waste product, the company will no doubt be swamped with applications for acreage inclusion Enough acreage is already under contract to insure large time operations for the refinery over a period of years. Around 35,000 trees are already tapped and it is expected gradually to increase this number to tw omillion which will provide an ample supply for the present equipment.

Two large concrete storage vats are overrunning with gum ready to go into the large boilers for refining and more is coming in dealy to be stored in containers until the plant gets under way when it is expected that the vats will handle the gum as it comes in. As soon as the refined product comes out of the cookers, there are five aluminum separators to receive the various grades of oil manufactured.

The collecting of balsam and digger pine gum is being started. The balsam gum is found in large blisters on the trees which when punctured run out readily. Ther is a good demand at the plant for all the gum that can be collected.

Crude oil will be used to fire the boilers which are being dried out as fast as posible. They are of substantial brick construction and the entire plant which handles volatile products is of a fireproof nature with corrugated iron roof and side walls and concrete flors to remove the manace of fire. The rosin as and ester the are made are drawn off into large metal continers and are ready for shipment.

As soon as the plant is fully underway the general public will be cordially welcome to call and see how it operates.

JERRY SEAWELL GETS A NICE APPOINTMENT

Assemblyman Jerry Seawell has been given a post on the important committee appointed by Speaker Edga C. Levey to investigate and apparise the fish cannery at the mouth of the Klamath river. The purpose of the investigation is to have the state fish and game commission purchase the cannery and prohibit any commercial fishing on the river. This committee is one of the choice special committees of the Assembly and carries an appropriation of $1000 for expenses of making the survey..

Jerry is figuring on making a trip shortly into this section to see how his constitutents are faring. He has been instrumental in forming a new building and loan association in Roseville of which he is the secretary and manager. Togeht er with being manager of the base ball team and a member of the school board he is quite a busy person.

MRS. ANNA TUCKER TO SEARCH THE RECORDS

Mrs. Anna C. Tucker, until recently manager of the local title and abstract company, will enter business for herself in the matter of searching titles, preparing conveyances and contracts. She will maintain headquarters at the court house and her many friends will be pleased to learn that she will reenter business here.

Mrs. Richard Chapman and daughter, Mrs. Ida Schnitzel, arrived the latter part of the week from Sacramento and are packing furniture of the former to take back with them. Mrs. Chapman recently sold her home in this city.

DEVELOPMENT YOUNG AMERICA IS MOVING

The Young America mine above Sierra City is seeing considerable development work carried on this season. The drift on level No. 4 is being driven ahead to intersect the hanging wall vein which produced rich ore on level in former days. The No. 4 is now over 3800 feet and making good progress. A new water power plant is now in operation. F. M. Doak and Ralph Newcomb are interested in the property.

NEW MERGER SHAFT MAKES GOOD PROGRESS

Another ten feet has been added the past week to the footage in the new shaft on the Jackson vein at the Western Merger property. The shaft will be pushed to a depth of 400 feet at least and connected with the previous levels in the other workings. Previous crosscutting was done on the 400 level to locate the Jackson vein without success from the main shaft. The new shaft will provide the main working shaft should the expected values develop at depth.

LEGION CAMP STEW HAS GOOD PROMISE

The American Legion camp stew to be held at Dykeman Grove west of Rough and Ready on August 11th promises to be a large affair and to eclipse previous ones in point of interest and attendance. The combined breakfast and stew will cost but one buck.

An invitation has been exetended Governor Young and other state officials to attend the affair.

NEOCENE STARTS MILL OPERATIONS GOOD VALUES BEING SHOWN GRAVEL

MINING BUREAU IS GIVING INFORMATION

The value of the Nevada County Mining Bureau to the mining industry of this county is being noted in many increasing instances. On Friday San Francisco stockholders in a Grass Valley enterprise were unable to obtain any information regarding the property in Grass Valley where they called and were directed to this office where they obtained a complete description of the property and its present status. The name of the company was not the name by which the mine was known which proved confusing. This office furnished the names of the officers and their addresses and other valuable information.

An extensive library of information on every mining property in this and Sierra counties is being accumulated and is accessable to all interested persons at any time. Current issues of mining publications are on file on the reading table and are available for reading at any time. The Mining Congress Journl is one of the new publications added.

MINING LOCATIONS ARE PLACED COUNTY RECORD

The following are the mining locations field for record the past week:—

LEASERS AT CHAMPION OPERATING STEADILY

William A. Sharp and William Rockefeller operating a lease on the Champion property are continuing steadily milling operations with a five stamp plant. A drift is being opened up above the mill which is showing good values. Opening up of the old Ural drift to get under known ore values is being pushed ahead. Some excellent rock was taken out the past week which will be sacked for shipment ho Selby, the values being largely in the concentrates.

BATEMAN OPERATING MINING PROPERTIES

I. C. Bateman of Berkeley has bonded certain mining properties above Washington from Frank Dillon known as the Maxine, Little Friend, Francis, Little Dickens and Boise groups and is preparing to develop the properties.

The properties are known as the Lady Bug mine and located at the forks of Poorman Creek.

ENLARGING OF RAILROAD DEPOT ACCOMODATED

Building of an addition, 24 X 48 feet is being completed at the freight depot of the Nevada County Railroad and will be ready for use this week. The freight depot section will not be as large as the depot prior to the fire but will provide large storage.

The railroad is an essential part of the industrial life of the county and should be given generous support by the business men in preference to outside interests.

W. Young came down from Graniteville during the week on business affairs.

With milling operations formally started at the properties of Neocene Gold Incorporated the past week, a great deal of activity may be looked forward to in the Cement Hill section the coming year. The new Ellis ball mill will handle 50 to 70 tons of gravel per day when on full schedule and this will be augmented by the addition of a rock crusher to handle the boulders and coarse gravel before going to the mill. Milling is being done at present on an eight hour basis until the surface plant is fully equipt and tuned up.

With a large tonnage of gravel already blocked out ready for milling, the only question now is the handling of a sufficiently llarge tonnage to make the operations highly successful from a financial standpoint. The uniformity of the gravel as to its pay values is at present being tested so as to detremine the size of the milling equipment necessary to handle a large amount of ore.

One of the interesting features of the milling process aside from the ball mill itself is the Ellis amalgamator, which is two by six feet in size. It contains a number of iron baffle plates set crosswise for retarding the flow of the slimes. There is a copper plate at the bottom of the device and copper riffles are set thre inches apart. Thee are electrically connected to create an extra pull in the quick. There is an auxiliary plate 2½ by 8 feet also used. A concentrator is to be installed below the plates as there are a number of precious minerals appearing in he gravel which are considered worthy of attention.

The mill is an upright revolving cylinder resting on nine 10 inch steel balls running in a circular trough. Running at a speed of 80 to 90 revolutions per minute, the rollers crush the gravel as it fed through a center hopper from the bins. A circular screen in four sections and of 30 mesh surrounds the lower part of the mill.

C. A. Ackerman, who is one of the leading metallurgists of the coast, is in charge of the milling operations and is highly satisfied with the values showing in the gravel so far aond states that with ample facilities to handle 400 to 50 tons per day that the Neocene operations can be made tremendously successful. The gravel so far being run through shows values around nine dollars a ton and with low operating costs and large tonnage handled should make Neocene one of the successful companies of this section the next few months.

The company has a large acreage to work and sufficient gravel is already blocked out to cover operations for a long time ahead. The properties of the Richland and Major companies are owned by the Neocene interests which accounts for the filing of the deeds the past week between Richland and Major.

PODDY PENROSE IS NAMED FIREMAN CHIEF

An uneventful election promoted Forrest "Poddy" Penrose to be chief of the Nevada City Fire Department last week with Otis Hardt as first assistant. Bud Sharpe who ws ticketed for the assistant position withdrew from the race on account of leaving for Reno to make his future home.

The election committee provided appetising eats for the occasion and a large number of members turned out for the election which was unanimously in favor of the new regime.

Penrose, who is a popular young man about town has served in the subordinate positions in the department for a number of years and his election comes as a merited reward.

E. H. Baker of San Francisco, and a former Nevada City high school principal, stopped over here enroute home from a stay at Lake Tahoe.

O. T. Lithgow, Frank Robins and Dan Muzzoni, came down from the Spanish mine the latter part of the week returning after a short stay.

FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

FRENCH CORRAL, Aug. 3, (Special to The Nugget)— Here we are in the ast month of summer. During the past week there were strong indications of moisture from overhead, but as yet we haven't received it. A good shower would clean and brighten things up, and just now could do no damage to fruit growers.

The closing of Yuba Pass for this month will shut off summer visitors from this section. However, some will get here by some other route.

A. Browning and family made a trip to the Siberia mine, at Badger Hill, Friday, and visited friends enroute.

Miss Louise Moulton returned to her home in French Corral Saturday, after a pleasant visit with relatives in San Frncisco nd Oakland.

Richard Hardenbrook and cousins, Misses Helen and Lois Meyers, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Keating of Oakland made a trip to French Corral Saturday to visit relatives at this place. All returned to Oakland Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moulton made a trip to Sacramento Saturday to bring their daughter, Miss Frances, for the week's end visit. Sh ewas acompanied by her friend, Miss Ioyl Hinshaw. The young ladies returned to Sacramento Sunday evening, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moulton.

Rev. Fr. O'Rielly held service in the Catholic church at Birchville Sunday. He was accompanied by Gerald Hogan of Nevada City.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mardon and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mardon and daughter of Oroville were Sunday visitors. Mr. J. B. Mardon and hi son, Jack, were former French Corralites, and altho many of the old friends are gone, and scenes are chaged, they delight in coming back to even for a short while live past.

Mrs. A. Browning and son, Harry, made a trip to Nevada City Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McNamara of Tyler visited relatives in French Corral Thursday.

Some good road work is being done on the Sweetland grade. Mr. Capps of Rough and Ready is in charge. He passed through this section with road scraper this week and the road will be in fine condition when he finishes. Good roads are one of the blessings automobiles have brought us. Nowadays when we hear one speak of the road being "bad", we must repress a smile. When we think of the roads of other days when in winter time freight wagons and stages would go down over the hub of the wheel in mud and get stuck there, and how poor horses had to suffer to get them but,— to say nothing of the suffering of the driver! We have no bad roads any more.

LOUIS JOUBERT RETURNS

CAMPTONVILLE, Aug. 3,—Louis J. Joubert, prominent California Mining Engineer returned to the state a few days ago after an absence of a year to the island of New Guinea beyond Australia where he has been employed by a large mining company doing development work, and in charge of some big workings.

Joubert reports that the island is very rich ,and conditions there are vrey similar to the early day gold rush to California. Miners are taking out great quantities of dust every day, and living in this mostly uncivilized, unrestricted country, the miners become reckless with their wealth, and highly patronize saloons, which are in vogue in that section.

Joubert will return here for a short vacation at his old home at Oak Valley, and later on will again sil for. New Guinea, to resume his ulu this time, and will accompany him to the island next trip.

FRANK WEHE BETTER

Frank R. Wehe, who has been ill at his home in the city for some time is reported as slowly improving and his physician expects his return to normal health.

A local organization serves your Telephone

Altho your telephone will put you in communication with cities far away, your telephone company is not a far-distant affair. It is in reality a local institution, — its employees and managers are your own neighbors. We who serve your telephone are members of your service clubs, your church, your lodge. Our children go to school with your children. Like you, we are engaged in common tasks of local citizenship.

You permit us to serve your home and business in an important and very personal way. Because we are your neighbors, interested in your interests, and knowing your problems, we know what you expect of your telephone. And we are anxious to see that you get it.

Each year sees a steady advance in the telephone art. But your telephone will never become so efficient that its service to you is not dependent upon the zeal of a human organization, right here in your community, giving intelligent and courteous attention to your wishes.

YUBA PASS ROAD IS CLOSED AUGST 1 TO 31

The United States Forest Service announces that the Yuba Pass road on the Tahoe National Forest will be closed between Downieville and Sierra City from August 1 to August 31, inclusive, due to construction work now under way.

The Yuba Pass road is an approved National Forest Highway, and the construction now in progress is made possible through allocations of Forest road money. The section of the road from Sattley westerley to Sierra City, about 13 miles, has already been completed with forest road funds at a cost of approximately $365,000, and the present work is for the purpose of constructing the final link between the end of the previous federal improvement at Sierra City and a connection with the State Highway at Downieville. This section is about 13 miles in length and its construction will cost about $350,000.

About one mile of the section now being constructed is located along the approximate line of the old road, and, due to the rugged nature of the country traversed, the cost of constructing a temporary detour would be prohibitive. It is therefore necessary to close the road to traffic for a short period.

During the time the road is closed, travel from the west will reach points immediately east of the closed road by way of Colfax, Truckee, and Sierraville, or by way of Quincy, and Gold Lake. Nevada City is the principal objective in order to reach points immediately east of the closed section.

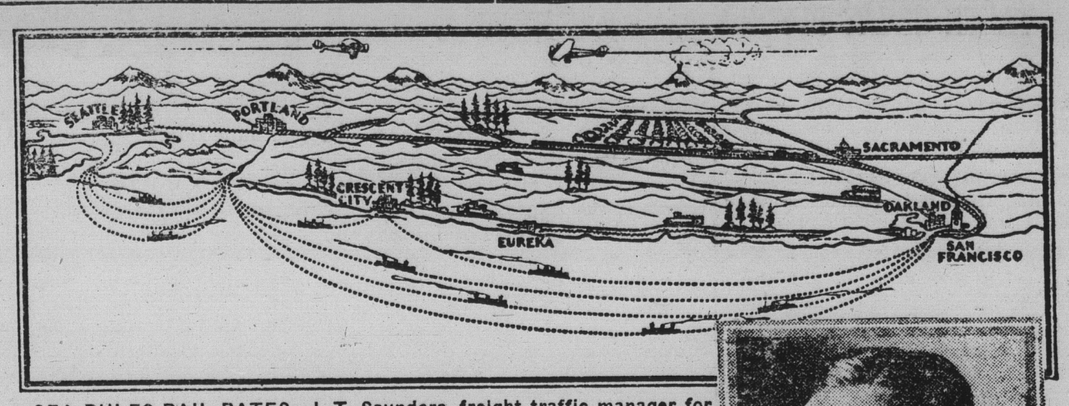
FIGHT FOR FREIGHT IS KEENEST ON COAST



SEA RULES RAIL RATES—J. T. Saunders, freight traffic manager for Southern Pacific, who says three steamship lines handling two-thirds of north and south freight, tramp steamers and truck lines, as indicated on map, make coastwise competition the most difficult faced by railways

"More than ten per cent of this amount has been spent since 1923 for the construction and rehabilitation of 521 miles of mainline in northern California and southern Oregon. Within a few weeks our new 97 mile line between Klamath Falls and Alturas will be opened, providing a new mainline route to the east 286 miles shorter than from Klamath Falls to Chicago than any line now existing or proposed.

"The competition of steamships carrying more than one-half of the total coastwise freight traffic affords competition which will continue to be the basis for freight rates regardless of future railway construction."

MORE than a million tons of freight annually borne in the holds of coastwise steamships between ports of California and the Pacific Northwest ports exceeds north and south railway traffic by a margin in excess of 100 per cent, according to J. T. Saunders, Freight Traffic Manager for Southern Pacific company.

Not only do three steamship lines handle twice as much freight as is rail-borne between California and the northwest, but the railway also faces competition of numerous motor truck carriers operating upon the public highway. These truck lines now radiate to almost every community upon the Pacific slope, carrying annually thousands of tons of freight formerly handled by the railroads.

Climate, much advertised as a tourist attraction, adds to the competitive difficulties of Pacific Coast railways. Every day in the year is a good travel day for Pacific Coast motorists and fine paved highways have made automobiling so easy that railway passenger revenues annually decline to the tune of millions of dollars.

"No railway anywhere," Saunders said, "faces competition so strong as that met by Southern Pacific. Five major transcontinental railways, air routes, four coastwise steamship lines, many tramp steamers and traffic motor-borne upon the highways all compete with our lines.

"In four representative months—January, April, July and October of 1927—three steamship lines alone moved 319,685 tons of freight between California and Portland and the Puget Sound ports. In the same period rail traffic north and south between California and Oregon was only 151,453 tons.

"An average of 75,000 pounds a week is moving by steamer from California ports to Crescent City, California, whence it is delivered to destinations in Grants Pass, Medford and other Oregon cities.

"Separately and jointly trucks and steamships are moving thousands of tons of freight which once moved by rail.

"In order to meet this competition Southern Pacific since the World War, has spent over four hundred million dollars for construction of new and rehabilitation of old lines, new equipment and betterments.

SUPREME COURT SAYS COUNTIES TO STAY IN

There is a lot of dynamite in the highway and bridge district laws that the Sierra county board of supervisors had better investigate before they take a leap into the joint highway district that the Yuba and Butte county people have been proposing to them.

Some years ago a number of counties in the north of the bay district in a flush of enthusiasm joined what was proposed to be a district to investigate the possibility of bridging the Golden Gate. Later on a number of the taxpayers instituted suits in Mendocino county to have their county excluded from the operations of the district, alleging that it would cause excessive debt on their lands. The state supreme court has handed down its decision that once in they have got to stay in.

The Marysville boosters who are seeking to get another route into Sierra county in addition to the Bullards Bar route, have been making advances to the Sierra county people to join them in a joint highway district, stating that the cost would be merely nominal. The game is to get Sierra county into the fold and then the two lower counties which have the voters can do about what they please so far as Sierra county is concerned and the Sierra county people will have to pay their part of the bills in spite of themselves and they will be unable to get out of it, apparently, when once in. Sierra county can well take heed of the recent court decision and take their time about joining the road scheme advanced by the anti debris crowd who have fought the mountain people these many years.

Hopeless

For more than two hours the club bore had been telling his stories to the occupant of the chair opposite him in the smoking room. At last the victim decided he would have to be rude if he were to escape at all.

When the next story came to an end he gave a prodigious yawn.

"Excuse me," he said.

But the club bore was a match for the best where rudeness was concerned.

"That's quite all right," he said. "It doesn't bother me at all. You see, I've lived close to the entrance of a railway tunnel for the last five years."

Accepted

When little Bobby was taken to the hospital to see his newly arrived baby sister he was highly delighted with her. He regarded her with beaming approval, taking in the fascinating details of her fuzzy nails and the little numbered identification disk on a cord around her neck. This last item he regarded for some time, and then said: "Well when are they going to take the price-mark off of her?"

Considering Posterity

Old Multrox—Want to marry my daughter, do you? Think I'll make a nice, comfortable father-in law, eh?

Young Allnerve—No, I don't; but I'm going into this thing with my eyes open. What worries me is that I've picked a pretty rough grandfather for my innocent children.

In a hotly contested game of baseball Tuesday afternaan on the local lot, the Camptonville high school team went down to defeat, the details of the score being a missing quantity. The team sponsored by Rev. H. H. Buckner proved to hefty a combination for the up-country pill tossers.

The Taber property at Gibsonville has been taken over by the Stockton Mining Company and a crew of twelve men is employed. Underground work will be started this fall.

Princess the Mother of Wonderful Artist

Flanders fittingly celebrated the three hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Pierre Paul Rubens, the most glorious of her sons.

Few men are so universally known as Rubens. This chiefly through the great number of his paintings, scattered all through the world, and also his voluminous correspondence existing in Spanish, Belgian, French, English and Dutch libraries. Recent researches have brought out very curious revelations on the origin of Rubens.

It appears that his father, Jan Rubens, had a liason with Anna of Saxony, wife of the great William the Silent, prince of Orange. Pierre Paul was the son born of this illicit union. The child was not recognized by Orange, who subsequently divorced his wife.

The legitimate wife of Jan Rubens adopted the boy. But the puissant family of the Oranges never forgave the young painter for being allied with them by blood. They persecuted him all his life, according to new revelations.—Chicago Journal.

Had Business Reason for Making Inquiry

Times were hard, and those who had had work clung to it tenaciously. A small steam roller chuff-chuffed noisily up and down a road, which was under repair, and one of the out-of-works watched it for a time, studying the engineer intently.

"How do you feel today?" he asked suddenly.

"Fine. How's yourself?" came the prompt response

Each succeeding day the lounger appeared, always with the same greeting. The engineer became curious, almost annoyed at the persistent inquiry, and finally demanded:

"Say, what d'you mean by coming and asking 'how do you feel' every day?"

"Well, you see," drawled the lounger, "you don't look any too well, and I have a hunch that one of these days you'll have to quit your job—and I want to get it."—Vancouver Province.

Health for Females in Open-Air Exercise

There seems to be no reason why a woman or girl should not get as much enjoyment out of life as any man or boy. Too many of our sex consider themselves hothouse flowers. If the weather is cold or stormy they will not venture outdoors. The sun must be shining and the weather warm before they will spend any time outside. Whether it is cold or warm, calm or stormy, every woman and girl should spend at least three hours daily in the open air. Not merely resting, but walking, washing or playing some game. Being in the fresh air is all right in a way, but to get 100 per cent value out of the good air, one should exercise in it. Even if the exercise consists only of deep breathing, this, at least, exercises the lungs. I find that too many women neglect their breathing. They very seldom take a deep breath. It is easy to get into the habit of taking the deep breathing; expanding the lungs to the limit if only two or three time a day. Doing this indoors is of little value. The fresh air should be taken advantage of. By this means, alone, one can obtain assurance against lung troubles. And there is no cost whatever for this treatment.—Psychology Magazine.

Embryo Lawyer Puts Up Successful Plea

Apparently lawyers are born and not made, if a delightful yarn published in the Manchester Guardian correctly illustrates the development of the legal mentality from a start in the cradle, writes the London correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor. There had been a certain liveliness in the nursery just before bedtime, with the result that some of the furniture was broken. There was a fog of highly conflicting evidence in the nursery, and father decided that, failing a full and accurate account of what had happened, an anticipated holiday at Scarborough should be canceled.

After some moments of deep thought his young son, who will probably some day be lord chancellor, summed up the position in a sentence: "I have said I didn't do it, but if I can't go to Scarborough unless I say I did do it, I think I had better say I did it; but, if I did do it, I don't know I did it." Father is reported to have retired from the discussion at this stage, without risking further discomfiture by cross-examination.

Natural Reason Why Most Gamblers Lose

Dr. George A. Dorsey, author of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," has told in the Cosmopolitan why gamblers "go broke" and do not behave as human beings.

"A man of self-control," he writes, "no matter what he has lost, is able to keep his wits about him, is always prepared for any move, and when he has had enough he knows it and quits. That same man, winner or loser, quits when he is tired or when he has had enough.

"The man who does not behave like a human being in a gamble is the man who as a boy has not learned to take chances, who has not learned to profit by experience, and who has not learned to use his brain to get him out of difficulties, but has hung on to his mother's apron-strings or sought refuge in flight or blustered his way out like a beast.

"And so, while we are all naturai-born gamblers, we are not necessarily all good gamblers when the stake is high or the situation dangerous. We may fail in the crisis; we may whine and snivel or run like whipped curs; or we may bluster and brag or fight like senseless beasts. Or we may play the game. There are gamblers and gamblers."

Lovers' Quarrel Sent Burbank to the West

A lovers' tiff was the proximate, if not the underlying cause of Luther Burbank heeding Horace Greeley's advice to young men to "Go West." He tells the story in his life story, "The Harvest of the Years."

"I was very deeply fond of a beautiful young lady"—it was in 1875, and the great naturalist was twenty-six at the time—"who seemed to me, I remember, less ardent than I was. A trifling disagreement, two positive natures, probably hasty words—and I determined that my heart was broken.

"Mary and I can look back on those tragic days—for I am sure they were tragic to both of us—with smiles. Shortly after my arrival in California I wrote her or she wrote me, and we resumed our friendship by letter. The friendship has been kept up all these years and has been very significant to both of us. Probably my Mary of those old times has had many an occasion to be thankful that I took her at her word when she told me—as I think she must have—that I was not the only eligible man in Massachu-

ENGELBRIGHT HOOVER PICTURES OF INTEREST

The jicture of Congressman Harry Englebright and President Herbert Hoover printed on the fornt page of The Nugget three weeks ago has created a great deal of interest in the newspaper profession and requests have been pouring in from all over California for the loan of th ecut. The story as published exclusively in these columns is said to have been one of the finest human interest stories developed in the county in a number of years.

The California Red Man, official organ of the Improved Order of Red Men of the state, sent in a hurry call for the cut to b eused in its special issue for the coming Great Sun Council of the Order, our Congressman being an honored Past Sachem of the Order.

One of the appreciated requests, also for the use of the cut comes from John B. Long, executive secretary of the California Newspaper Publishers Association in a letter to the publisher from Walter A. Yarwood of San Francisco, reading as follows:

Dear Mr. Willoughby:

"Your issue of July 15 contained a very interesting article of Congressman Englebright presenting ore from th eReward Mine to President Hoover as a reminder of his early days spent at Nevada City.

"Am just in receipt of a letter from John Long, Executive Secretary, who is preparing the data for the Souvenir Edition of the "Publisher" for distribution at the State Fair, wondering if it would be possible for him to obtain the cut of the Congressman and the President which appeared with the story. Due credit will be given your paper and I believe it will be a nice bit of advertising for Nevada City inasmuch as the Edition will be in excess of ten thousand copies, one of them being mailed to every newspaper in the eleven western state prior to th eopening of the Fair.

If you will mail the cut to this office we will guarantee its safe return and will thank you in advance for the courtesy."

PLACER COUNTY STILL TALKING THE REPORT

Two Placer county newspapers are keeping the pot boiling on the supervisor situation and the recent grand jury report and are now attempting to take to task two of the other papers which have been disposed to feel that maybe the supervisors were trying to run the county in an economical manner though not always to the legal line. It was reported here that Supervisor William Haines had been given a stort time to resign by one of the voters. Supervisor Haman seems to be the butt of the newspaper controversy but we preduct that Bill will be in at the finish line.

The supervisors have shown a friendly spirit to the American Legion which is reported to have first started the agitation which led to the expert audit, by increasing the allowance for the Roseville Memorial Hall.

Editor Thurman of the Colfax Record has been taking a leading part in playing up the alleged machinations of the board. It is fortunate that some newspapers do not have to watch the cash drawer in their quest to serve the public desire for news. There are always plenty of curbstoners to egg on the editor to do his derndest to drive the rascals out (and put new rascals at the public trough,) but they never spend much to keep the editorial wheels agrinding. There are some up this way.

FIVE MILE HOUSE FIRE

Fire nearly destroyed the Five Mile House on Harmony Ridge recently.

Had not Newton Blough, its occupant, discovered the blaze before it acquired much headway and put it out with a few buckets of water, the place would be in aches. It is presumed that sparks from the chimney ignited the roof.
